ABANDON HUNT; NEGRO AT LARGE

DOGS TO BE PLACED ON THE TRAIL OF MURDERER.

SEARCHING DILIGENTLY

Entertain Little Hope of Capturing
Murderer.

Oklahoma City, June 9.—The man
hunt is about over. It has been unsuccessful.

With several of the posse returning to Kingfisher after having scoured
the surrounding country, including hay stacks, thickets, lofts, huts, and every fence corner that suggested a
hiding place, and with others expressing the belief that it is useless
to chase further, it is given out
by the officers who have led the
search most vigorously and determinedly, that the negro, Alf Hunter, who shot down Sheriff Garrison near Hitchcock, Friday afternoon last,
has crossed the Cimarron river to
the east and is now making his escape.

The officers have ordered blood-
hounds from Wichita, but have little hope of picking up the trail anywhere, since it is believed to be even in the vicinity of Kingfisher more than 48 hours old. Another thing being considered is that all of the surrounding conditions favor the fleeing
murderer, the water in many places
being up to the buggy bed, thus
effectually covering up the trail.

Surround Hunter—Story Doubted.

Guthrie, Okla., June 8.—Alf Hunter
or Jim Kinsbury, the negro murderer
of Sheriff Garrison of Oklahoma City,
is believed to be surrounded in the woods near Lowell, 22 miles north of here. He has traveled from Dover
in Kingfisher county, adjoining, since
last night, which he spent at the home of Mae King, seven miles north west of Kingfisher. United States Marshal Abernathy and a posse left for Lowell late this afternoon to join
in the hunt.

Fully 20 men are beating the brush
in the vicinity of Lowell and Crescent City and the country is aroused.
A long distance telephone message
to the Oklahoman from Sheriff Mahoney of Guthrie, indicates that the foregoing message is exaggerated.
A negro is under arrest at Lowell,
but Mahoney does not believe that he is Hunter. At the request of Ma-
honey United States Marshal Abernathy, Deputy Sheriff Muxlow and
"Bill" Tillman have gone to Lowell
to see the negro.

A posse from Oklahoma City, headed by Deputy Sheriff Roy Holcomb,
left yesterday afternoon for Kingfisher, where they go to give aid, if
necessary, to those who have been
keeping up the hunt for several days. At the time they left the city,
it was thought that the posse had
located the negro.

George Jones, the negro now in jail at Kingfisher, had an exciting
time with the officers who placed a
rope about his neck and threatened
to strangle him up if he refused to tell the whereabouts of Kingsbury. Quivering and weeping, he was led to a nearby tree, the rope was passed over
a limb and the old negro was asked
if he had anything further to say.

Pleading for mercy and declaring
that he wished that he had never heard of Hunter, that he did not know any thing about him or where
he went, the officers desisted.

PREPARING

To Put the New Currency Ordinance
Into Effect at Once—Lists
Arranged.

Washington, June 9.—Preparations are being made by the treasury department for the prompt carrying into effect of the various provisions of the new currency law. A list of all the national banks arranged by state showing the capital and surplus of each, is being prepared by the comptroller of the currency for the use of the secretary's office in connection with applications that may be received from banks for the formation of national currency associations provided for by the new law.

COUNTY SEAT WAR.

Two Dead—One Wounded at Eufaula.

Muskogee, June 9.—Two dead men,
another wounded and a fourth man in
the federal jail at Muskogee awaiting
a preliminary trial for murder, two
widowed women and five orphaned
children, is the harrowing record up
to date in the county seat war in McIntosh county.

At 11 o'clock last night City Marshal Wood, of Eufaula, died in the doctor's office at Eufaula, where he had been removed after having been
shot by Special Deputy Sheriff Par-
meter, of Checotah, who himself was shot twice through the hand during
a battle on the streets of Eufaula
late Sunday afternoon.

The dead marshal was 42 years of age and came to Eufaula about five years ago from West Virginia. He leaves a widow and four children.

Still another chapter was added to
the deadly feud between checotah and Eufaula over the location of the county seat of McIntosh county and as a result General Dunlap lies dead
at Eufaula and County Clerk Ed C.
Julian is in the federal jail in this
city, awaiting his preliminary for
the killing of Dunlap.

Hotel Destroyed.

The Oklahoman reports that a severe storm at Guthrie last night blew
the top off of the new $100,000 lone
hotel and effected much other damage. It is reported that a cyclone demolished Ft. Smith.

Lives Here.

It is said that there lives somewhere, a man who would push a widow's dog in the creek, who would
steal the coppers off the eyes of a dead nigger. The close relative of that man resides in Ada.

Mrs. John W. Jones of Wetumka, as late yesterday afternoon reported to be in a dying condition, but reports this morning state she is much better.

Tribute to Posey.

The following is taken from the Indian Journal of Eufaula, and is from the pen of Charles Gibson, a full-blood Creek, and noted writer of this country:

Gene Over to See.

The mystery of life was as vague to Alex Posey as it was with all men. He had worked for the best interests of his people, the red men, and always extended the right hand of fellowship accompanied with a honest smile.

On the bosom of the stream that at last swallowed him he had often paddled his bark. He loved the old river that in a moment of rage extinguished his young life.

Cruel River; to murder so good a friend!

But, as the red men say, it was in the beginning ordained that he should retire from this life as he did. The roar of the old stream put him to sleep and sent him to his long home. To grieve for him is vain and those who had his good will have only regrets that his life was so short. He was one of the few Indian writers of North America. Peace to the dead.

visitors. With polite insolence the party was directed to a parlor until the manager could be summoned, and he on being informed that the king wished to meet his officers at once, conducted them to the elevator which carried them upward.

By requisition of the government the entire top floor had been given up to the accommodation of the British guests, and with them on this night as entertainers were many of the higher officers of the American navy who throughout the war had been forced to rest in idleness. The realization that their days of seafaring were nearly at an end had not come to them with full force, and all within the extemporized naval club were simply awaiting and hoping for orders which would put an end to inactivity.

Beneath the shaded lights of the ceiling were many tables, at some of which men in fatigue uniforms were being initiated into an American game which seemed to find favor, while at others spirited discussions were being held. Wreaths of smoke curling up to meet the lights added to the air of informality, and a burst of laughter in one corner of the room indicated the success of some raconteur. The door swung open noiselessly, and on its threshold stood one who looked smilingly at the idle veterans of two nations. He stood thus for an instant before the crusty old Scotch admiral known to his fellows as "Jimmy" Barr lifted his eyes in the direction of the door. His mouth opened in astonishment beneath its bearding of red, and his sharp eyes frowned as he peered across the shoulder of the man opposite, and then, with one hurried leap he gained his feet, upsetting his chair in his haste. His heels came together, and his arm was raised in salute as he exclaimed loudly: "Gentlemen, the king!"

Instantly those in the room looked at the admiral and then at the entrance. There was the muffled sound of chairs hastily shoved across the carpeted floor, startled exclamations, and a hurried rising. Two score of hands came to the salute, and a dramatic moment followed in which their owners strove to gather their wits. It was almost unbelievable that their sovereign was before them.

The king looked at them gravely, and then took a few steps forward, and his companions followed. He stopped almost in front of Barr, and slowly raised his hand, with open fingers in a gesture which combined greeting and a demand for attention. He wasted neither time nor words.

"My men," he said, "I have come from a conference with his excellency, the president of the United States. Its results will be made known to you within the course of a few days at the most, or hours at the least. I have come to say to you that in submitting yourselves to an invincible power for reasons which you could not fathom you acted wisely and now have our full approval."

The British officers exchanged quick side glances of relief. Barr alone had the temerity to break into an open smile of satisfaction. They were not, then, to be censured by their country, and the situation would bear no disgrace. His majesty continued:

"You have unwittingly assisted in reuniting the Anglo-Saxon race. I hope, after its separation of nearly a century and a half. You have been made involuntary guests by a man whose friendship I esteem, and whom I honor above all men. I refer to the

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and labor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend

HARD WIND AND RAIN.

Citizens Awakened From Their Slumbers During Last Night, Two Houses Damaged.

The Hardest wind and a very hard rain again aroused the citizens of Ada last night, and those who had storm houses went to them and those who could called on their neighbors. Everybody in town seems to have been more or less frightened. At bed time there was not a cloud in the sky but at 1:30 the storm was raging. Hardly any one expected it until it was on in full blast, and many citizens went to their caves in the rain. The wind and rain came from the northeast and for a few minutes was terrific. Trees in different parts of the city were blown down among them a number of fruit trees and lots of fruit was blown off trees that with stood the wind, a few awnings were blown down, and water poured in a number of buildings under the door. The two room residence of D. R. White in Daggs addition was blown from the foundation and otherwise damaged. The loss is covered by tornado insurance in the Phoenix. The Weaver agency. The residence of J. H. Cantwell was also damaged, the chimney blowing down. We do not know whether Mr. Cantwell had insurance or not.

The trains were all late today on account of minor damage to the tracks.

The passenger train due to reach Ada last night arrived at 7 o'clock this morning with several panes of glass broken on the north side of the coaches caused from a heavy hail storm at Holdenville. There may be other damage in the country yet to hear from.

COMPETENT MEN
TO JUDGE PLAYSURGENT PLEA FOR MAJOR LEAGUES TO HAVE REGULAR
STAFF OF SCORERS.

PRESENT PLAN IS UNJUST

Players Often Not Given Their Dues
and Too Much Chance for Favoritism—Time Is Ripe to Place the Position on a Higher Plane—Some Strong Arguments.

By George L. Moreland.

Will there ever be satisfactory scoring done by the official scorers in the major leagues? Scoring that will be absolutely correct, and scoring that will not savor of favoritism?

Never, so long as the present style of scoring is permitted. It is a question if there are two of ficial scorers in the major leagues who score a play alike. In my travels throughout the cities I have found so many kinds of scoring that I have often wondered how a batter is to get what is due him.

Many times one sees a foot note, out for bunting third strike. The rule states plainly that it is simply a strike out, and the catcher should be given a put-out.

In some cities the player who over slides second or third base after having successfully stolen the base is not given a steal.

There are several scorers (official) that could not give you a correct definition of a fielder's choice on his life. Some scorers do not give a player a sacrifice hit when he intentionally makes one, if an error is made on the play.

In some cases where a pitcher strikes out a batter and the catcher drops the ball but gets the man at first base, the pitcher is not credited with a strike-out.

One of the greatest faults of the present style of selecting official scorers is that the scorers are selected from among the sporting editors of the different papers in the cities that compose the major leagues. There are good baseball men and honest ones at that who know how to score, but a young fellow just breaking in the business thinks he should have a whack at the game and to prevent the said sporting editor from getting sore. A certain city had no less than four official scorers in one season, simply to satisfy the S. E.

I have argued for the last ten years that the only way we will ever have correct scoring is for the two major leagues to appoint a set of scorers and have entire charge of the business. Run the scoring of the game the same as they do with the umpires. Select competent men and pay them a salary that would justify them in giving up a sporting desk, or select some person outside the business. There are many who could be selected that would do the work as it should be done.

It has not been so many years ago that local men were selected to umpire games. Did they prove satisfactory? Not in a hundred different ways. So why expect local men to handle the scoring of a game any more than have a local man act as his "umps?"

Baseball has outgrown its babyhood days. It is now one of the greatest business propositions of the country. Why, then, not have competent officials? Have we not two of the great men at the head of the leagues that ever handled the affairs of the two organizations? Have we not the best umpires than can be had? Then why not have a set of official scorers to take charge of the other department, one that causes more arguments among the fans than the rulings of his "umps?"

It would not cost such a great amount to have men appointed who could tour the circuit like the umpires. Each club in the two leagues now pays a stated sum to have the work done, so that the money would almost pay a man's salary per day. The traveling expenses and hotel board would not cost a fortune.

An owner of a club pays good money for a first-class player, the 16 clubs pay big money to hire two good presidents, and the latter engage first-class men to umpire, which the club owners pay for, so why not select eight men who can score a game as it should be scored?

Another argument that holds good is that it would stop a lot of getting square with this or that player. "I would not give that guy a hit on anything," was the comment of a scorer one time, but he charged the fielder with an error, and I have known cases where there has been no mention of a hit at all, neither was an error scored, just simply beat the batter out of a hit because he was no friend of the O. S. It would also stop all arguments from certain quarters about how do you expect to beat such and such a batter out in hitting when he gets everything?

It has been known where a player got hits when rank errors were made simply to have him ahead of "so and so" in "so and so" city. This would be a thing of the past if official scorers were appointed and sent around the cities as are umpires.

The above argument is not made for any selfish reason, but because it is the truth and will be acknowledged by all fair-minded sporting editors. This is Frank Chance's tenth year in the game, all with the Chicago Cubs.

It is lucky for some of the smaller countries of South America that those English disappearing torpedo boats do not sink while on a friendly visit to some of the minor powers. It might spell annexation or at least taxation to replace the boats.

For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional Cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

"Helpful Hints" That Hinder.
Many of the "helpful hints" followed by our mothers are now proved utterly useless, if not more harmful than helpful. For instance, no one now uses moist tea leaves to clean a carpet or rug, because of the inevitable staining. And salt used on a carpet collects dampness and rusts the tacks. Newspapers, dampened and torn, answer the purpose much more satisfactorily. Rugs should be shaken from the sides, for the strain of the weight on the end is very apt to loosen the web.The Entire Family.

The Famous Simmons Ranch South of San Antonio is Now on the Market—Investigate This and Get in Before it is Too Late.

Messrs. F. L. Beatty and I. F. Isham, of Carnegie, Okla., and G. A. Severns, of Mountain View, Okla., all well known, reliable gentlemen, write: Carnegie, Okla., March 12, 1907.

Dr. C. F. Simmons, San Antonio, Texas.
Dear Sir:—We left Oklahoma on the morning of the 6th of March to visit your Atascosa County lands, for the purpose of seeing the land and investigating your proposition for ourselves, and our neighbors who are contemplating purchasing.

We spent some time on the ranch and satisfied ourselves thoroughly that the land was all that you had represented it to be. The soil is fine and the water is as good as can be.

We have brought away samples of soil taken from different places, and Cotton, Alfalfa, Wheat and Corn that can be seen by calling at the office of F. L. Beatty, at Carnegie, Oklahoma. This land will produce anything that is planted upon it if properly cultivated.

We stood on top of the hill in the Musgrove pasture, and could see for miles in every direction, almost over the entire property. This land is all irrigable, and sufficient water can be obtained to irrigate the entire property.

We are entirely satisfied to recommend the proposition to our people. The only thing needed to make this a great country is a railroad, and we have your assurance that it will be built at an early date. If you can satisfy the people that this railroad will be built through this land within any reasonable time, there will be no trouble about finding purchasers for every farm and lot that you have got.

It is such an easy country to build a railroad over, and you are offering such a large bonus, and the tonnage will be so great for a railroad through that country when this property is sold, that you certainly will be able to find some one who will build the road without delay.

We will be glad to have you refer anyone who wants to know anything about this land to us.

Yours truly,

Tribute to Posey.

The following is taken from the Indian Journal of Eufaula, and is from the pen of Charles Gibson, a full-blood Creek, and noted writer of this country:

Gene Over to See.

The mystery of life was as vague to Alex Posey as it was with all men. He had worked for the best interests of his people, the red men, and always extended the right hand of fellowship accompanied with an honest smile.

On the bosom of the stream that at last swallowed him he had often paddled his bark. He loved the old river that in a moment of rage extinguished his young life.

Cruel River; to murder so good a friend!

But, as the red men say, it was in the beginning ordained that he should retire from this life as he did. The roar of the old stream put him to sleep and sent him to his long home. To grieve for him is vain and those who had his good will have only regrets that his life was so short. He was one of the few Indian writers of North America. Peace to the dead.

The Vanishing Fleets

By ROY NOATON

With polite insolence the party was directed to a parlor until he manager could be summoned, and he on being informed that the king wished to meet his officers at once, conducted them to the elevator which carried them upward.

By requisition of the government the entire top floor had been given up to the accommodation of the British guests, and with them on this night as entertainers were many of the higher officers of the American navy who throughout the war had been forced to rest in idleness. The realization that their days of seafaring were nearly at an end had not come to them with full force, and all within the extemporized naval club were simply awaiting and hoping for orders which would put an end to inactivity.

Beneath the shaded lights of the ceiling were many tables, at some of which men in fatigue uniforms were being initiated into an American game which seemed to find favor, while at others spirited discussions were being held. Wreaths of smoke curling up to meet the lights added to the air of informality, and a burst of laughter in one corner of the room indicated the success of some raconteur. The door swung open noiselessly, and on its threshold stood one who looked smilingly at the idle veterans of two nations. He stood thus for an instant before the crusty old Scotch admiral known to his fellows as "Jimmy" Barr. Lifted his eyes in the direction of the door. His mouth opened in astonishment beneath its bearding of red, and his sharp eyes frowned as he peered across the shoulder of the man opposite, and then, with one hurried leap he gained his feet, upsetting his chair in his haste. His heels came together, and his arm was raised in salute as he exclaimed loudly: "Gentlemen, the king!"

Instantly those in the room looked at the admiral and then at the entrance. There was the muffled sound of chairs hastily shoved across the carpeted floor, startled exclamations, and a hurried rising. Two score of hands came to the salute, and a dramatic moment followed in which their owners strove to gather their wits. It was almost unbelievable that their sovereign was before them.

The king looked at them gravely, and then took a few steps forward, and his companions followed. He stopped almost in front of Barr, and slowly raised his hand, with open fingers in a gesture which combined greeting and a demand for attention. He wasted neither time nor words.

"My men," he said; "I have come from a conference with his excellency, the president of the United States. Its results will be made known to you within the course of a few days at the most, or hours at the least. I have come to say to you that in submitting yourselves to an invincible power for reasons which you could not fathom you acted wisely and now have our full approval."

The British officers exchanged quick side glances of relief. Barr alone had the temerity to break into an open smile of satisfaction. They were not, then, to be censured by their country, and the situation would bear no disgrace. His majesty continued:

"You have unwittingly assisted in reuniting the Anglo-Saxon race, I hope, after its separation of nearly a century and a half. You have been made involuntary guests by a man whose friendship I esteem, and whom I honor above all men. I refer to the Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific nerve sickness—nothing else. It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Restorative—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had. HARD WIND AND RAIN.

The Hardest wind and a very hard rain again aroused the citizens of Ada last night and those who had storm houses went to them and those who could called on their neighbors. Everybody in town seems to have been more or less frightened. At bed time there was not a cloud in the sky but at 1:30 the storm was raging. Hardly any one expected it until it was on in full blast and many citizens went to their caves in the rain. The wind and rain came from the northeast and for a few minutes was terrific. Trees in different parts of the city were blown down among them a number of fruit trees and lots of fruit was blown off trees that with stood the wind a few awnings were blown down and water poured in a number of buildings under the door. The two room residence of D R White in Dagg's addition was blown from the foundation and otherwise damaged. The loss is covered by tornado insurance in the Phoenix The Weaver agency. The residence of J H Cantwell was also damaged the chimney blowing down. We do not know whether Mr Cantwell had insurance or not.

The trains were all late today on account of minor damage to the tracks.

The passenger train due to reach Ada last night arrived at 7 o'clock this morning with several panes of glass broken on the north side of the coaches caused from a heavy hail storm at Holdenville. There may be other damage in the country yet to hear from.

Refrigerators, Quick-meal Gasoline Stoves, Ball-bearing Lawn Mowers and White Mountain Freezers, to Suit Everyone.

Has it occurred to you that some refrigerators are dear at any price? The reason is this: Poor insulation causes a constant waste of ice, and poor circulation does not insure keeping the provisions pure. Ten years selling Greenland Refrigerators has demonstrated their superior qualities over many others. Buy a good one.

Cabbage.

Well I should say so. Brother Loop brought the city editor of the News one Saturday that surpasses all records. After dividing with neighbors his wife is still cooking cabbage and we are cabbage eaters at our house too. Mr. Looper is shipping cabbage almost daily and is realizing a handsome profit on the two acres planted.

Sheriff Tom Smith left this morning for Tishomingo for the escaped prisoner that was captured in that city yesterday.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure it with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F J Cheney & Co. Toledo, Ohio is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. ABANDON HUNT; NEGRO AT LARGE

DOGS TO BE PLACED ON THE TRAIL OF MURDERER.

SEARCHING DILIGENTLY

Entertain Little Hope of Capturing
Murderer.

Oklahoma City, June 9.—The man
hunt is about over. It has been unsuccessful.

With several of the posse returning to Kingfisher after having scoured
the surrounding country, including hay stacks, thickets, lofts, butts, and
every fence corner that suggested a
hiding place, and with others ex-
pressing the belief that it is useless
to chase further, it is given out
by the officers who have led the
search most vigorously and determi-
nedly, that the negro, Alf Hunter, who
shot down Sheriff Garrison near Hatchcock, Friday afternoon last,
has crossed the Cimarron river to
the east and is now making his escape.

The officers have ordered blood-
hounds from Wichita, but have little
hope of picking up the trail anywhere, since it is believed to be in the vicinity of Kingfisher more than 48 hours old. Another thing being considered is that all of the surrounding conditions favor the fleeing
murderer, the water in many places
being up to the buggy bed, thus
effectually covering up the trail.

Sarround Hunter—Story Doubted.

Guthrie, Okla., June 8.—Alf Hunter
or Jim Kingsbury, the negro murderer
of Sheriff Garrison of Oklahoma City,
is believed to be surrounded in the
woods near Lowell, 22 miles north of
here. He has traveled from Dover
in Kingfisher county, adjoining, since
last night, which he spent at the home of Mac King, seven miles north west of Kingfisher. United States
Marshal Abornathy and a posse left
for Lowell late this afternoon to join
in the hunt.

Fully 20 men are beating the brush
in the vicinity of Lowell and Crescent City and the country is aroused.
A long distance telephone message
to the Oklahoman from Sheriff Ma-
honey of Guthrie, indicates that the
foregoing message is exaggerated.
A negro is under arrest at Lowell,
but Mahoney does not believe that
he is Hunter. At the request of Ma-
honey, United States Marshal Abernathy, Deputy Sheriff Muxlow and Bill Lillman have gone to Lowell
to see the negro.

A posse from Oklahoma City headed by Deputy Sheriff Roy Hulcomb,
left yesterday afternoon for King-
fisher where they go to give aid, if
necessary, to those who have been
keeping up the hunt for several
days. At the time they left the city,
it was thought that the posse had
located the negro.

George Jones, the negro now in jail at Kingfisher, had an evening
time with the officers who placed a
rope about his neck and threatened
to strangle him up if he refused to tell the whereabouts of Kingsbury. Quivering and weeping he was led to a nearby tree the rope was passed over
a limb and the old negro was asked
if he had anything further to say.

Pleading for mercy and declaring
that he wished that he had never heard of Hunter, that he did not
know any thing about him or where
he went, the officers desisted.

COUNTY SEAT WAR.

Two Dead—One Wounded at Eufaula.

Muskogee, June 9.—Two dead men
another wounded and a fourth man in
the federal jail at Muskogee awaiting
a preliminary trial for murder, two
widowed women and five orphaned
children is the harrowing record up
to date in the county seat war in McIntosh county.

At 11 o'clock last night City Marshal Wood of Eufaula, died in the
doctors office at Eufaula where he
had been removed after having been
shot by Special Deputy Sheriff Par-
meter, of Checotah who himself was
shot twice through the hand during
a battle on the streets of Eufaula
last Sunday afternoon.

The dead marshal was 42 years of
age and came to Eufaula about five years ago from West Virginia. He leaves a widow and four children.

Still another chapter was added to
the deadly feud between Checotah and Eufaula over the location of the
county seat of McIntosh county and as a result General Dunlap has died
at Eufaula and County Clerk Ed C
Julian is in the federal jail in this
city, awaiting his preliminary for
the killing of Dunlap.

Hotel Destroyed.

The Oklahoman reports that a severe storm at Guthrie last night blew
the top off of the new $100,000 lone
hotel and effected much other dam-
age. It is reported that a cyclone demolished Ft Smith.

Lives Here.

It is said that there lives some-
where, a man who would push a
widow's dog in the creek who would
steal the coppers off the eyes of a dead nigger. The close relative of
that man resides in Ada.

Tribute to Posey.

The following is taken from the Indian Journal of Enfield, and is from the pen of Charles Gibson, a full-blood Creek, and noted writer of this country:

Gone Over to See.

The mystery of life was as vague to Alex Posey as it was with all men. He had worked for the best interests of his people, the red men, and always extended the right hand of fellowship accompanied with an honest smile.

On the bosom of the stream that at last swallowed him he had often paddled his bark. He loved the old river that in a moment of rage extinguished his young life.

Cruel River; to murder so good a friend!

But, as the red men say, it was in the beginning ordained that he should retire from this life as he did. The roar of the old stream put him to sleep and sent him to his long home. To grieve for him is vain and those who had his good will have only regrets that his life was so short. He was one of the few Indian writers of North America. Peace to the dead.

BY WORTMAN

AN ACT

To Compel owners of domestic animal to bury the carcasses thereof and defining penalty for violation thereof.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF OKLAHOMA:

SECTION 1: That it shall be the duty of every owner of every domestic animal in the State of Oklahoma, which may hereafter die of any contagious or infectious disease, either to burn the carcass thereof or bury the same within twenty-four hours after he has notice or knowledge of such fact so that no part of such carcass shall be nearer than two and one half feet of the surface of the soil; Provided, That all hogs dying of any disease shall be burned. It shall further be unlawful to bury any such carcass as mentioned in this action in any land along any stream or ravine, where it is liable to become exposed through erosion of the soil or where such land is any time subject to overflow.

Owner, as used in this Act, shall mean and include any person having domestic animals in his possession, either by reason of ownership, rent, hire, loan, or otherwise, and shall be subject to all the pains and penalties of this Act.

SECTION 2: It shall be unlawful for any one to leave or deposit, or cause to be deposited or left the carcass of any animal, whether the same shall have died from disease or otherwise, in any stream of water; or leave or deposit the same within one fourth of a mile of any occupied dwelling or of any public highway, without burying the same as provided in preceding section of this Act.

SECTION 3: Every person who fails to comply with sections one and two of this Act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SECTION 4: All acts and parts of Acts in conflict with this Act are hereby repealed.

SECTION 5: An emergency is declared to be immediately necessary for the preservation of the public health and safety; wherefore this act shall take effect from and after its passage and approval.

efforts. With polite insolence the party was directed to a parlor until the manager could be summoned, and he on being informed that the king wished to meet his officers at once, conducted them to the elevator which carried them upward.

By requisition of the government the entire top floor had been given up to the accommodation of the British guests, and with them on this night as entertainers were many of the higher officers of the American navy who throughout the war had been forced to rest in idleness. The realization that their days of seafaring were nearly at an end had not come to them with full force, and all within the extemporized naval club were simply awaiting and hoping for orders which would put an end to inactivity.

Beneath the shaded lights of the ceiling were many tables, at some of which men in fatigue uniforms were being initiated into an American game which seemed to find favor, while at others spirited discussions were being held. Wreaths of smoke curling up to meet the lights added to the air of informality, and a burst of laughter in one corner of the room indicated the success of some raconteur. The door swung open noiselessly, and on its threshold stood one who looked smilingly at the idle veterans of two nations. He stood thus for an instant before the crusty old Scotch admiral known to his fellows as "Jimmy" Barr lifted his eyes in the direction of the door. His mouth opened in astonishment beneath its bearding of red, and his sharp eyes frowned as he peered across the shoulder of the man opposite, and then, with one hurried leap he gained his feet, upsetting his chair in his haste. His heels came together, and his arm was raised in salute as he exclaimed loudly:

"Gentlemen, the king!"

Instantly those in the room looked at the admiral and then at the entrance. There was the muffled sound of chairs hastily shoved across the carpeted floor, startled exclamations, and a hurried rising. Two score of hands came to the salute, and a dramatic moment followed in which their owners strove to gather their wits. It was almost unbelievable that their sovereign was before them.

The king looked at them gravely, and then took a few steps forward, and his companions followed. He stopped almost in front of Barr, and slowly raised his hand, with open fingers in a gesture which combined greeting and a demand for attention. He waited neither time nor words.

"My men," he said; "I have come from a conference with his excellency, the president of the United States. Its results will be made known to you within the course of a few days at the most, or hours at the least. I have come to say to you that in submitting yourselves to an invincible power for reasons which you could not fathom you acted wisely and now have our full approval."

The British officers exchanged quick side glances of relief. Barr alone had the temerity to break into an open smile of satisfaction. They were not, then, to be censured by their country, and the situation would bear no disgrace. His majesty continued:

"You have unwittingly assisted in reuniting the Anglo-Saxon race, I hope, after its separation of nearly a century and a half. You have been made involuntary guests by a man whose friendship I esteem, and whom I honor above all men. I refer to the

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. No think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and yellow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.

HARD WIND AND RAIN.

Citizens Awakened From Their Slumbers During Last Night, Two Houses Damaged.

The Hardest wind and a very hard rain again aroused the citizens of Ada last night and those who had storm houses went to them and those who could called on their neighbors. Everybody in town seems to have been more or less frightened. At bed time there was not a cloud in the sky but at 1:30 the storm was raging. Hardly any one expected it until it was on in full blast and many citizens went to their caves in the rain. The wind and rain came from the northeast and for a few minutes was terrific. Trees in different parts of the city were blown down among them a number of fruit trees and lots of fruit was blown off trees that with stood the wind a few awnings were blown down and water poured in a number of buildings under the door. The two room residence of D R White in Dags addition was blown from the foundation and otherwise damaged. The loss is covered by tornado insurance in the Phoenix The Weaver agency. The residence of J H Cantwell was also damaged the chimney blowing down. We do not know whether Mr Cantwell had insurance or not.

The trains were all late today on account of minor damage to the tracks.

The passenger train due to reach Ada last night arrived at 7 o'clock this morning with several panes of glass broken on the north side of the coaches caused from a heavy hail storm at Holdenville. There may be other damage in the country yet to hear from.

Healthful Play.
The Playground Association of America recently gave a notable public dinner in honor of Mrs. Humphry Ward of London. Mrs. Ward was welcomed not as the brilliant novelist, but as the leader in the movement for wholesome recreation for London children. Mrs. Ward, the duchess of Marlborough and Miss Jane Addams were the principal speakers. An earnest plea was made that American women emulate English women in their sense of actual obligation to the whole civic body. Many young women here take up philanthropy as a diversion, and drop it when social or domestic demands become more attractive. In England there is a large class of women who accept individual responsibility for the public good as the condition of their fortunate heritage. No public betterment is more prolific of good, says the Youths' Companion, than that of free open spaces where children may play under intelligent guidance and inspiration. It is a sad fact that thousands of children need to be taught how to enjoy themselves. The playground in the crowded city, equipped for games and athletic exercises, is a veritable godsend to the child whose only refuge from the dark tenement is the dirty and dangerous street. The Playground association and Mrs. Ward stand for improved development for country as well as city children. One result of the movement is the generous field near the schoolhouse, cut up into small lots, where each child may do his own gardening. The delights of skill applied to this miniature farming are far-reaching in their influence. Moreover, intelligent adaptation of sports to the physical requirements of children is needed in village as in city. Finally, the playground idea is spreading from school to factory and shop. A great assemblage of prominent men and women discussing all the aspects of these important questions gives promise of a future not merely Utopian, but practical, when all indoor toil shall be sweetened by outdoor play.

The Hunted Bird.
It would not be possible for one to hunt at all if he could really believe that which many good people believe, that in an invasion of the quiet wood and field he ruthlessly forces into the life of bird and animal a new element of dread, shadowing their very existence and taking from it most if not all of the joy of living, writes Lewis S. Welch, in the Atlantic. Quite plainly true is it that the gun is a signal of danger; that the gun dog is an animal to be feared by those whom he loves to hunt; that the approach of man is the approach of a possible enemy. Man and dog and gun are signs to the bird that it is well to fly and to seek some other less disturbed resting place. This is not a pleasant thing for the bird; it is often very inconvenient; but that it means hysteria of fear and cataclysm of feeling is beyond my understanding. Watching birds when the game is on gives me no ground for believing that the disturbance of what they may possess in the way of feeling is anything more than momentary, or more than one experience out of thousands which come into their lives every season and against which by nature they are forearmed.

The Benefit of Sunlight.
Many persons labor under the delusion that it is necessary to avoid sunlight for fear of spoiling the complexion. As a matter of fact, the sun's rays are necessary to give it the delicate tinting of beauty and health. Air is necessary to the first inspiration and the last expiration of our lives, but the purity and activity of the atmosphere depend upon the warming rays of the sun, while our bodies require light for their healthy stimulation. It is well known that without solar heat there can be no proper vegetable growth, and it is equally necessary for the beauty and perfection of animal development. It behooves us, therefore, declares the New York Weekly, to see that our homes are open to the sun's rays and are made as bright and cheerful as possible, and they ought to freely admit the sunlight. It is well known that some diseases which have baffled the skill of physicians have been known to yield when the patients were removed from dark rooms to light and cheerful apartments. Sunlight is especially necessary for the healthy growth of children.

It is lucky for some of the smaller countries of South America that those English disappearing torpedo boats do not sink while on a friendly visit to some of the minor powers. It might spell annexation or at least taxation to replace the boats.

COMPETENT MEN TO JUDGE PLAYS

URGENT PLEA FOR MAJOR LEAGUES TO HAVE REGULAR STAFF OF SCORERS.

PRESENT PLAN IS UNJUST

Players Often Not Given Their Dues and Too Much Chance for Favoritism—Time Is Ripe to Place the Position on a Higher Plane—Some Strong Arguments.

By George L. Moreland.
Will there ever be satisfactory scoring done by the official scorers in the major leagues? Scoring that will be absolutely correct, and scoring that will not savor of favoritism?

Never, so long as the present style of scoring is permitted. It is a question if there are two of official scorers in the major leagues who score a play alike. In my travels throughout the cities I have found so many kinds of scoring that I have often wondered how a batter is to get what is due him.

Many times one sees a foot note, out for bunting third strike. The rule states plainly that it is simply a strike out, and the catcher should be given a put-out.

In some cities the player who over-slides second or third base after having successfully stolen the base is not given a steal.

There are several scorers (official) that could not give you a correct definition of a fielder's choice on his life. Some scorers do not give a player a sacrifice hit when he intentionally makes one, if an error is made on the play.

In some cases where a pitcher strikes out a batter and the catcher drops the ball but gets the man at first base, the pitcher is not credited with a strike-out.

One of the greatest faults of the present style of selecting official scorers is that the scorers are selected from among the sporting editors of the different papers in the cities that compose the major leagues. There are good baseball men and honest ones at that who know how to score, but a young fellow just breaking in the business thinks he should have a whack at the game and to prevent the said sporting editor from getting sore. A certain city had no less than four official scorers in one season, simply to satisfy the S. E.

I have argued for the last ten years that the only way we will ever have correct scoring is for the two major leagues to appoint a set of scorers and have entire charge of the business. Run the scoring of the game the same as they do with the umpires. Select competent men and pay them a salary that would justify them in giving up a sporting desk, or select some person outside the business. There are many who could be selected that would do the work as it should be done.

It has not been so many years ago that local men were selected to umpire games. Did they prove satisfactory? Not in a hundred different ways. So why expect local men to handle the scoring of a game any more than have a local man act as his "umps?"

Baseball has outgrown its babyhood days. It is now one of the greatest business propositions of the country. Why, then not have competent officials? Have we not two of the greatest men at the head of the leagues that ever handled the affairs of the two organizations? Have we not the best umpires than can be had? Then why not have a set of official scorers to take charge of the other department, one that causes more arguments among the fans than the rulings of his "umps?"

It would not cost such a great amount to have men appointed who could tour the circuit like the umpires. Each club in the two leagues now pays a stated sum to have the work done, so that the money would almost pay a man's salary per day. The traveling expenses and hotel board would not cost a fortune.

An owner of a club pays good money for a first-class player, the 16 clubs pay big money to hire two good presidents, and the latter engage first-class men to umpire, while the club owners pay for, so why not select eight men who can score a game as it should be scored?

Another argument that holds good is that it would stop a lot of getting square with this or that player. "I would not give that guy a hit on anything," was the comment of a scorer one time, but he charged the fielder with an error, and I have known cases where there has been no mention of a hit at all, neither was an error scored, just simply beat the batter out of a hit because he was no friend of the O. S. It would also stop all arguments from certain quarters about how do you expect to beat such and such a batter out in hitting when he gets everything?

It has been known where a player got hits when rank errors were made simply to have him ahead of "so and so" in "so and so" city. This would be a thing of the past if official scorers were appointed and sent around the cities as are umpires.

The above argument is not made for any selfish reason, but because it is the truth and will be acknowledged by all fair-minded sporting editors.

This is Frank Chance's tenth year in the game, all with the Chicago Cubs.

"Helpful Hints" That Hinder.
Many of the "helpful hints" followed by our mothers are now proved utterly useless, if not more harmful than helpful. For instance, no one now uses moist tea leaves to clean a carpet or rug, because of the inevitable staining. And salt used on a carpet collects dampness and rusts the tacks. Newspapers, dampened and torn, answer the purpose much more satisfactorily. Rugs should be shaken from the sides, for the strain of the weight on the end is very apt to loosen the welt.

The Entire Family.
Grand Pop used it for Rheumatism. Dad for Cuts, Sprains and Bruises. Mammy for Burns, Scalds and Aches. Sis for Catarrh and Chills. I use it for everything, and it never disappoints any of us. It surely yanks any old pain out by the roots. Hunt's Lightning Oil is what I am telling you about.

Eccentricities of Genius.
"Genius is freakish. It is claimed that the brilliant Dr. Johnson used to touch every post in his pathway."
"I know one of them geniuses."
"And does he touch every post he comes across?"
"No; he touches every friend he comes across, or everlastingly tries to."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Famous Simmons Ranch South of San Antonio is Now on the Market—Investigate This and Get in Before it is Too Late.

Messrs. F. L. Beatty and I. F. Isham, of Carnegie, Okla., and G. A. Severns, of Mountain View, Okla., all well known, reliable gentlemen, write:

Dr. C. F. Simmons, San Antonio, Texas.
Dear Sir:—We left Oklahoma on the morning of the 8th of March to visit your Atascosa County lands, for the purpose of seeing the land and investigating your proposition for ourselves, and our neighbors who are contemplating purchasing.

We spent some time on the ranch and satisfied ourselves thoroughly that the land was all that you had represented it to be. The soil is fine and the water is as good as can be.

We have brought away samples of soil taken from different places, and Cotton, Alfalfa, Wheat and Corn that can be seen by calling at the office of F. L. Beatty, at Carnegie, Oklahoma. This land will produce anything that is planted upon it if properly cultivated.

We stood on top of the hill in the Mustang pasture, and could see for miles in every direction, almost over the entire property. This land is all irrigable, and sufficient water can be obtained to irrigate the entire property.

We are entirely satisfied to recommend the proposition to our people. The only thing needed to make this a great country is a railroad, and we have your assurance that it will be built at an early date. If you can satisfy the people that this railroad will be built through this land within any reasonable time, there will be no trouble about finding purchasers for every farm and lot that you have got.

It is such an easy country to build a railroad over, and you are offering such a large bonus, and the tonnage will be so great for a railroad through that country when this property is sold, that you certainly will be able to find some one who will build the road without delay.

We will be glad to have you refer anyone who wants to know anything about this land to us.

Yours truly,

Do Not Worry

Worry over your ill-health does your health no good, and merely manufactures wrinkles, that make you look older than you are. If you are sick, don't worry, but go about it at once to make yourself well. To do this, try taking that well-known and successful female remedy,—

Wine of Cardui
Mrs. Jennie Merrick, of Cambridge City, Ind., says: "I suffered greatly with female trouble, and the doctors did me no good. They insisted on an operation, but I took Cardui, and it made me feel like a new woman." Try Cardui.
